How Watch Cases are Made. It is a fact not generally known that the James Bons' Gold Watch Class really contain more pure gold than many "solid" gold cases. The demand for these watch cases has led to the manufacture of a very poor grade of solid gold watch cases— low in quality, and deficient in quantity-These cases are made from 41 to 10 karata, and a 5 or 6 karut case is often sold for 12 or 14 karats. It is nor economy to buy a watch case so poor in quality that it will soon lose its color, or one so soft that it will lose its shape and fail to shut tight, thus letting in dust and damaging the works, or one so thin that a slight blow will break the crystal, and perhaps the movement. It IS economy to buy a James Boss' Gold Watch Class, in which NONE of these things ever occur. This watch case is not an experi

Swarming is the natural way of inswarming is the natural way of its creasing colonies, but no practical apiarist will think of letting his bees swarm when it can be so easily prevented. Natural swarming involves a great deal of labor, care and time in watching, which may all be saved by dividing, and we thus save the risk of loosing our bees by their going off to the woods. Swarming into practical apiarist will think of letting his bees saved and the until I find the queen. When and examine them until I find the queen. When and examine them until I find the queen. and finally enter other hives and be destroyed. Dividing is the best method of securing an increase of stock, but it should be practiced judiciously, and not in a hap hazard sort of a way. The bee-keeper should know just what he is doing he should know when to divide, how to divide, and the condition in which to leave each part of the divided colony. Many beginners ruin their bees by injudicious dividing, they think that all they have to do is to open the hive and take out half the contents and put into an empty hive and fill up with empty frames and assign the new colony a location and the job is done, but they often fail, and then they swear that dividing is a humbug, when the failure was entirely due to their own ignorance. Dividing when correctly done, is never attended with any evil consequences, but is much better than natural swarming, for the apiarian can always make his swarms in the proper season, when if left to swarm naturally they will often swarm late in the season, when other stocks will with winter supplies. Then the number of swarms can be regulated, and if honey is the main object no colony should be divided more than once. There are several methods of dividing, but the one I practice, and which I consider the best is as follows: I select a strong colony and in the heat of the day when the outside workers or old bees, are mostly absent from the hive gathering stores. I open the hive and take
